Reflections on Teaching, Learning and You

How does learning occur?

Reflection #1

PRINT THIS PAGE

The basic question is "How does learning occur?" Take a moment to reflect upon and articulate your beliefs regarding how learning occurs. To guide your thinking, consider the following additional questions: How do people learn? What do learners do? When is learning accomplished? If you were asked to draw a concept map or a model of "learning" what would that model look like? For example, what would be the key elements in a model for learning?