Reflections on Teaching, Learning and You

What do you now believe about learning?

Reflection #5

NEXT you will be asked a similar series of questions relating to your beliefs about teaching. However, before beginning the next series, consider these questions. Write down your responses.

What do you now believe about learning? How will learning occur among your students in your classroom? What outcomes do you (or will you) have for your learners? As a teacher, how will you know when learning has occurred in your classroom?
